ASSEMBLY CONVENTION.

SECOND DISTRICT.
A Republican Convention, of the Second Assembly District in the County of Rock, comprised of the City of Janesville, and the towns of Janesville and Rock, is hereby called to meet at the Common Council room, in the city of Janesville on Monday, the 28th day of October, instant, at two o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for member of the Assembly, for said district. The wards and towns will be entitled to the following representations:

First ward.....	5
Second ward.....	4
Third ward.....	4
Fourth ward.....	4
Fifth ward.....	5
Town of Janesville.....	2
Town of Rock.....	2

A. A. JACKSON,
W. T. YANKIRK,
A. B. BAXTER,
JOHN EERIE,
H. C. MILES,
S. E. OTIS,
District Committee.

SECOND DISTRICT CONVENTION.

The Republican Convention for the Second Assembly District, has been called to meet at the Council Chamber in this city on Monday, October 28th, at two o'clock in the afternoon. The committee did a wise thing in calling the Convention early, thus enabling the person nominated to make a pretty thorough canvass of the towns and city before the election. It is hardly necessary to remind the Convention of the importance of making a strong and otherwise judicious nomination. A United States Senator is at stake, and every Republican should work with an eye single to the end of carrying the Legislature and thus secure a Republican Senator. The Convention should carefully consider the importance of the question, and for a candidate for the Assembly, should select a man of great personal strength, and whose election would be an honor to the party and a credit to the District.

THE GAZETTE SPEECHES.

The Weekly Gazette issued on Thursday of this week contains a large amount of interesting political news. Among the speeches are Schurz's, remarkable speech delivered in Cincinnati; Senator Kirkwood's on National Honor, delivered in Iowa; Senator Blaine's made in Chicago; that of George W. Allen, recently delivered in Milwaukee; and a portion of that of Senator H. W. Allen, delivered in Madison last week. Besides this brilliant array of speeches, the Weekly Gazette also contains a large amount of other political and choice miscellany. It is a matter worthy of special note, that the speeches and other political articles which appear in the Weekly Gazette of this week, cover every point of the financial question. For this reason they should be carefully read by Republicans, and closely studied by Greenbackers. We especially invite attention to the speeches of Senator Kirkwood, and Secretary Schurz.

The following is given by the New York Tribune to prove that Tilden knew all about the meaning and intent of the cipher telegrams: A prominent Democratic politician of New York, and an ex-State senator, upon being asked if he believed that the cipher telegrams could have been sent from and received at Tilden's house without his knowing it, replied: "I know that Tilden knew everything in relation to them. The late Mr. Orton, in reply to my question whether any of these dispatches were delivered personally to Mr. Tilden, assured me that Mr. Tilden had received many of them, and had read them before showing them to any one else." This testimony is of the most important importance from the fact that its author was a warm supporter of Tilden in the Presidential campaign.

That little old dried up, shriveled, puny, rheumatic individual, Alexander H. Stephens, is a man of wonderful brain power. Literally he has been dying for years, and has been a sufferer nearly the whole course of his life. But he is still plucky. He is running for Congress in the Eighth District in Georgia, on the Democratic ticket. He is a Democrat, but not a Tilden for a Potter Democrat. A Bourbon has been nominated against him by the shot-gun Democracy, but Stephens will beat. With all his infirmities, with a pair of legs which will not support his body, and with a little weak frame, he has challenged that champion Bourbon, Ben Hill, Herschel V. Johnson, and other politicians to debate with him, and each have declined! Stephens is too much for all of them.

The Janesville Times is in favor of issuing greenbacks by the Government to take the place of bonds and thus get rid of all interest. What would our right contemporary do with the Constitution and the United States Supreme Court?

In the opinion of the Times the Constitution and the Supreme Court of the United States don't amount to much when compared with the Doolittle-Parker platform. Doolittle thinks so too.

In the Palmetto Commonwealth, where "the era of peace and fraternal will" was solemnly promised by Hampton, and where the color line was to be obliterated, shot guns are to the front, and Republicans are to the rear. Hampton promised to be a Moses to the colored man, but he has turned out to be a Benedict Arnold.

"The gentleman from Ozaukee," Fred Horn, is running for the State Senate on an independent ticket against another German, Philip Schneider, who is a Democrat. Mr. Horn is very popular in that district, and as he will receive the Republican vote and that of a great many Democrats, it wouldn't be a strange thing if he were elected.

Republicans will carry the State of New York this year. The Democrats have but little hope, and lack courage.

CRIME.

Special to the Gazette.
CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—There is a strong probability that McArthur, Gregg and Golsen will be indicted by the grand jury.

Yesterday, in broad day-light, a burglar entered the house of C. A. Reins, on West Madison street, intimidated the servant girl, and stole a lot of goods and made good his escape.

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Oct. 23.—Mr. Chaffin, who eloped with Mrs. Newton, was pursued by the husband, overtaken, and Newton literally blew Chaffin's head off with a double-barreled shot gun, and then returned with his wife, and was pursued by a posse, but not captured.

THE FEVER.

Special to the Gazette.
MEMPHIS, Oct. 23.—A storm has followed the good frosts, and the fever is on its last legs. The refugees are not returning yet.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 23.—New cases of fever, 26; deaths, 19. Total cases to date, 12,599; total deaths to date, 3,774.

HEAVY FAILURE.

The Commercial Circles of St. Louis Startled by the Failure of Dodd, Browne & Co.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 23.—Commercial circles here were fairly startled to-day by the currency of a rumor to the effect that the prominent dry goods house of Dodd, Browne & Co., had failed to meet its engagements. The firm is the largest in the city, and with the exception of two Chicago houses, did the largest dry goods business in the West. The most strenuous efforts have been made by the firm to keep the facts out of the papers, and they succeeded in inducing both the evening papers not to publish the accounts which they had prepared of the disaster, and had secured the promise of the morning papers to do likewise, but the Associated Press dispatch from New York spoiled the arrangement, and the reading public of St. Louis will tomorrow receive such a shock as they have not for some time experienced.

The facts in the case, briefly summarized, are as follows: Dodd, Browne & Co., who did business in a large warehouse on the corner of Fifth and St. Charles streets, have done a very large South and South-western business, and it was in their success in directing the bulk of the latter trade from Chicago that they based their claims to being successful rivals of the Garden City dry goods men. The firm, which ten years ago had a capital of not more than $100,000, made a strong bid for business, and by granting longer time and making matters generally easier for their customers than was the wont of other St. Louis merchants, succeeded in largely increasing their trade. Of late some of their customers have been paying very slowly, and this was especially the case with their Texas trade, their present trouble being, it is claimed, directly due to the failure of their Lone Star State customers to pay up.

THE PLAGUE.

Further Particulars of the Southern Plague—Return of Refugees.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 22.—Deaths from yellow fever during the past twenty-four hours, 4; and fourteen new cases, twelve being colored. Drs. Frazer, Baxter, Knott, and Blackford are improving rapidly.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 22.—Deaths, forty-two; cases reported, 114. Total deaths, 3,775; total cases, 12,436.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 22.—Among the prominent dead of to-day are James Roper, a well-known grocer, who did business on Main street, south of Union; Miss Del Roach, eldest daughter of A. J. Roach, a prominent front street merchant, and Jas. Dolan, for many years engineer of Fire Company No. 4, but latterly in charge of the engine at the county jail.

The refugees are coming in numerously. Three or four hundred arrived to-day, and the cry is still, they are coming. Business is being resumed, and are long our streets will present their usual life-like appearance.

Twelve deaths during the past twenty-four hours are reported by the undertakers—six died in the city and six in the suburbs.

THE CIPHERS.

Opinions in Washington of Havemeyer's Card.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The card of Mr. Havemeyer receives more credence here among Democrats who were well posted during the Electoral contest than any one yet printed. Tilden's not excepted. In fact, it is the only one in which the gentlemen who are known to have had close relations with the general management of business about Tilden's residence place full reliance. Upon the first appearance of the South Carolina ciphers which disclosed Havemeyer's name, the explanation was given privately that Havemeyer had really been used in the matter of receiving dispatches for Pelton and Tilden, and sending them to the latter by messengers. The same parties who explained this also said that Havemeyer had no reason to suspect their character, and was only able to select them for forwarding to Tilden by the fact that they came in cipher. It is a significant fact that there are a number of Democrats here who were very active in promoting the passage of the Potter resolutions who now admit, without hesitation, that developments have removed Tilden entirely from the field for 1880.

POLITICAL.

Nichol at Beloit The Pennsylvania Democracy Discouraged.

BELOIT, Wis., Oct. 22.—Thomas M. Nichol spoke on the finances here tonight, dealing blows against the fiatists. He talked over two hours, but kept up intense interest to the end.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The Democratic Campaign Committee has discouraging news from Pennsylvania. The most accurate information is that the Democratic leaders in that State have abandoned hopes of carrying their State ticket, and that they are now attempting to concentrate on the Congressional and Legislative tickets, hoping to gain at least one Congressman, and possibly to secure a majority in the Legislature in order to elect a Democratic successor to Don Cameron. To accomplish this they have made a proposition for a coalition with the Greenback party. The latter is understood to have declined this proposition on the ground that their leaders are confident that the Nationalists will control the balance of power in the Legislature, and can thus dictate the election of United States Senator without an embarrassing alliance.

NARROW GAUGE.

Prospects of a Settlement of the Difficulties in the F. du Lac & P. N. G. R. R.

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Oct. 23.—The bonds of the Fond du Lac, Amboy & Portia Narrow Gauge railroad, which to the amount of $300,000 were guaranteed by this city to aid in the construction of the road, were to-day canceled and destroyed, for the reason that the conditions under which they were given had not been complied with. It is understood that, now that these bonds are out of the way, there will be a settlement between the parties who have been wrangling for the possession of the property, and that the Wellman faction will surrender their claim and take first mortgage bonds for their interest.

OH! TILDEN.

A Rumor that Tilden is to Marry a St. Louis Belle.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 23.—The Globe-Democrat will announce to-morrow that Samuel J. Tilden is engaged to be married to a St. Louis belle, and that the wedding will take place within three months.

FOUL PLAY.

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Oct. 22.—George A. Castis, a prominent and esteemed resident of Rosendale, was found dead to-day under a bridge near his house, his horse coming home riderless. There is suspicion of foul play.

Only a short time ago the Milwaukee News, called Deuster, the Democratic candidate for Congress, a "miserable scamp," but since the News was properly "approached," it supports Mr. Deuster heartily, and calls him a gentleman of honor. How circumstances alter cases!

MILTON.

—The gravestone of the highway between this village and the Junction has been completed.

—Samuel Plantz left the College class rooms Monday, to engage in teaching. He has charge of the school at Brooklyn, Green county. He has the best wishes of all for success, and we hope to see him back at the opening of the spring term of the College.

—Charles Potter, Jr., of Plainfield, New Jersey, manufacturer of the famous "Potter printing presses," was in town Monday.

—Mr. E. Fröhner, Hamilton, wife and daughter, and Mr. George Smith, and son of Allegheny county, New York, who have been visiting friends here, took the train Monday night for home. Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Hamilton left on the same train for Independence, Kansas, where they intend to spend the winter with their daughter, Mrs. Madison Coon and her two children accompanied them, and from Independence go to meet her husband, Mr. W. H. Coon, who has settled at Beatrice, Nebraska.

—Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Burdick were surprised on Monday evening by a visit from some thirty of their relatives and neighbors, who came to participate in the pleasant to the chime, wedding of their host and hostess. The happy couple were presented with a set of gold band china, Mr. W. P. Clarke making an appropriate presentation speech, and after a very pleasant social hour they departed, wishing the bride and groom a happy and prosperous future and a celebration of their silver wedding and as pleasant surroundings.

—Shoemaker De Vere "jumped" the town last Friday. The opinion prevails that unlike a bad hen he will not return.

—Post and Maxson returned from their eastern journey this week, and if appearances are a guide they have enjoyed their trip very much.

—The Hyers Sisters show at the Opera House in Janesville, Wednesday evening October 30. A special train will run from Janesville to Milton after the performance. The troupe have engaged the train and by it to Madison, there will not be any failure. The Milton people can therefore attend this remarkably fine entertainment, and return the same night.

Does Machinery Rob the Laborer?
James Richardson in Scribner for November.

The complaint that machinery robs the laborer of his only capital is entirely unfounded. Machinery never lessened the amount of work to be done, though it has constantly changed the character of the work. The labor-saving machinery employed in agriculture is almost entirely the product of the inventions of the past thirty years. In no part of the world has the introduction of such machinery been more general or more rapid than in the grain-growing States of the West. The result is shown in the census reports. During the ten years ending in 1860, the farm hands of those States increased in number by more than 50 per cent. During the next ten, in spite of the losses of the war, the increase was about 30 per cent. During the same twenty years the population of the country as a whole increased only 67 per cent.

When Walter Hunt invented his sewing machine in 1845, his wife protested that it would throw all the sewing women out of employment, and persuaded him to suppress it. Howe's and Singer's and no end of other machines have come since then, and yet there is no work for women to do. Notwithstanding the thousands of family machines in use, the number of persons earning a living with the sewing machine in this country is to-day much greater in proportion to the population than was the number of tailors and sewing women before the invention of the machine, which a recent pretended labor-lover has classed with the steam engine as one of the two worst evils that ever befall mankind. In noting its influence upon labor we must not forget the 30,000 or more mechanics employed in our sewing machine factories, and the thousands of others engaged in mining and making the iron, cutting and sawing the lumber, and in transporting and preparing these raw materials for the machines and their cases; nor the men employed in making the machinery used in the construction of sewing machines, and in transporting and selling the finished product. Counting these, the invention appears in its true light as a great creator of labor; and the average wages of the persons directly or indirectly employed by the sewing machine is doubtless four or five times that of the old-time sewers.

It is but a little while since a metropolitan paper of high rank pointed to the shoe business as furnishing a forcible illustration of the disastrous competition of machinery with men. The truth is, that while within twenty years not less than 85 per cent of the work done on factory boots and shoes has been turned over to machinery, there are to-day more men at work in shoemaker's shops than then, and more than would now be employed except for machinery. It is but another illustration of the old industrial paradox. During these years of rapid progress in invention, the cost of materials has advanced, wages have nearly doubled, and the quality of factory boots and shoes is far improved. 35 per cent of the cost of manufacturing has been so much reduced by new and improved machinery that American shoes have not only excluded the foreign made from our market, but have successfully invaded the markets of the whole world. As a natural consequence, many more shops are required not only in England, but throughout the Middle States and the West, more workmen are employed in shoe factories; higher wages are paid; and a great multitude of other men are furnished with employment in tanning the additional leather used, in packing and transporting and selling the additional product, and in making shoemakers' machinery and implements.

Liver is King.
The liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is equalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want.

A Pardonable Pride
Prompts me to delay, by any laudable means that science affords, the evidences of physical decay. Who that is in perfect health would not match the bright eye, the active mind, and other appearances of youthful vigor, with the luxuriance, the rich color, and beauty of youthful hair? Parker's Hair Balsam stands pre-eminent for elegant hair dressing, and by its healthful action on the roots not only promotes a luxuriant growth of the young hair, but unfailingly restores gray or faded hair to the original youthful color, giving a soft, rich and lustrous appearance of great beauty. No other preparation so effectually removes dandruff or stops falling of the hair; its cooling and healing action entirely curing itching and humors of the scalp, and keeping the skin clean, white and healthy. It is perfectly harmless, exquisitely perfumed, and contains nothing that will soil the skin or ruin the hair. It is not a dye, and is unequalled for excellence and purity. Buy a bottle from your druggist, A. J. Roberts, and test its merits.

1334 Broadway

If Baldness or a Deficiency of Hair Exists, or if the hair is gray, dry or harsh, the natural youthful color can be restored by using "London Hair Color Restorer," the most delightful article ever introduced to the American people for increasing its growth, restoring its natural color, and at the same time a lovely hair dressing and beautifier. It is totally different from all others; not sticky or gummy, and free from all impure ingredients that render many other artificial hair dressings and toilet luxuries.

J. A. TYNES, A. PROMISES CITIZEN,
Wilson, N. C., writes: "Some ten years ago my wife's hair commenced falling, and got very thin and turned gray; but after using 'London Hair Color Restorer' the scalp became healthy, the hair stopped falling, the color was restored, and is now growing beautifully."

Ask your druggist for London Hair Color Restorer. Price, 75 cents a bottle. Six bottles, $4. Main Depot for the U. S., 339 North Sixth St., Philadelphia.

—Rev. Mr. Scale, the pastor of the African Methodist church here, has been made the presiding elder of this district of the African church.

—Benjamin Grove, an employee of the Harris works, suffered a bad gash on his hand yesterday by a piece of metal flying out of the lathe.

—The Assembly Convention of the Second District has been called to meet in the Common Council rooms, Monday October 28, at 2 o'clock p. m.

—The Circuit Court which was to meet to-morrow to finish up some business belonging to the present term, will meet only to adjourn until November 1, and no business will be done until then.

—Samuel Holdredge Jr., being unable to serve as an Inspector of Election for the Third ward, on account of the injuries he lately received, Mr. Charles A. Fredendall has been appointed in his place.

—The funeral services of Mrs. Carrie Roloff will take place at her residence in the town of Janesville, on the middle road, on Thursday, October 24, at 12 m, instead of Presbyterian church, as heretofore announced.

—The tramps who are hovering just beyond the State line, made a raid on the Salisbury house, in Beloit yesterday and carried off the cigar case containing two boxes of smokes and a little change. They are now enjoying their plunder in Illinois.

—The choir of Christ Episcopal church has been organized with Messrs. Collins and Whitford as tenors. Messrs. Peterson, Randall and Smith as sopranos. Miss Emma Joslyn as alto. Messrs. St. John and Bladen as bass and Miss Cullen as organist.

—The house of Minard Mott, at Shoreview was entered by a burglar the other night. Mott woke up just in time to see a man walking off with his clothes, and gave chase as far as he deemed it prudent considering the scarcity of clothing which the burglar had left him to wear. No arrests.

—The fourth annual convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of this Wisconsin will be held in Whitewater, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, October 29, 30, and 31. An interesting programme has been arranged and the meeting will doubtless be one of profit to all workers in that line. The railroad fare to delegates for the round trip will be one and one-half of the regular fare one way.

—A co-partnership has been formed between Mr. H. C. Stearns, and Mr. Joseph P. Baker, who will carry on the drug trade at the old Philadelphia drugstore. Mr. Baker is well known in the city and county, having been in the drugstore of Andrew Palmer about nine years. For the past two years he has been traveling for the perfumery establishment of W. H. Tallman. The new firm have energy, enterprise, and the confidence of the public, and will command a large share of the public patronage.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 33 degrees above and at 2 o'clock this afternoon at 50 degrees above. One year ago today at corresponding hours the thermometer stood at 69 and 64 degrees above.

The indications to-day are, for the upper lake region partly cloudy weather, westerly winds, generally shifting to warmer southerly, stationary, or lower pressure.

HOME AGAIN.

Burr Robbins and His Show Arrive in Janesville and Go Into Winter Quarters.

To-day the citizens were gladdened at seeing Burr Robbins driving through the business streets, headed for Spring Brook farm. His wife and family arrived yesterday as did also some of the attaches of the show, and this afternoon the rest arrived and the work of preparation for the winter's stay was at once entered upon. Everyone will be glad to welcome Burr Robbins and his men.

COLFAX AT MILTON JUNCTION.

Hon. Schuyler Colfax is to deliver his celebrated lecture on "Abraham Lincoln," at the new church in Milton Junction, Thursday evening, October 24. This lecture has been received with great enthusiasm wherever it has been delivered. No man perhaps is better qualified to speak on the life and character of Lincoln, as he was intimately associated with him during the darkest days of the war. The tickets have been placed at the low price of two shillings each. The ladies and society will serve an oyster supper in the basement of the church, at the conclusion of the lecture.

THE CAMPAIGN AT LIMA CENTER.

There was a large gathering at Lima Center last night, to hear Hon. J. B. Casaday, of this city, speak on the political questions of the day. Mr. Fred. Gould presided and introduced Mr. Casaday, who was greeted with cheers indicative of the Republican enthusiasm which prevails in that town. He was eagerly listened to and made a very clear logical statement of the points at issue. Many who heard him pronounce it the best political speech of the campaign. Greenbackism is well nigh killed out there now, and many of the Democrats will vote for the honest money. One who knows say there are only two Republicans, and those rather feeble ones, who threaten to vote the greenback ticket.

On reaching Pierce's, where the young men made their headquarters, they learned that they had not been seen since Monday morning, and that yesterday morning their oars had floated ashore on the opposite side of the lake. This being confirmation of the belief that they had been drowned, boats were at once secured, and the search for the bodies at once entered upon.

It was with a faint hope, bordering almost on despair, that the friends commenced their work. The "blind," which the young men were to use, was about half a mile from the shore, and it was deemed expedient to commence grappling there first, and work toward the shore. In about three-quarters of an hour after the work was entered upon Sylvester Van Buren, an employee of the Harris works, succeeded in bringing up the body of young Sherer.

The clothing was all stripped off, save his underclothes and one stocking. Soon after Mr. Albert Sherer, pulled up an oilskin hunting jacket, which proved to be that worn by young Colvin. A few minutes later, and but a short distance from where young Sherer was found, Sylvester Van Buren brought up with the grapples the body of Charlie Colvin. He was dressed as usual with the exception of his coat, which had been pulled off. The watch in his pocket was stopped, and the hands stood at six minutes past seven o'clock, indicating doubtless quite accurately the time Monday morning when the terrible calamity occurred. It was about 8 o'clock last evening when the bodies were recovered, and the friends started back with them at once, reaching the city between twelve and one o'clock.

The bodies when recovered presented a most life like appearance, and the young men seemed rather to be sleeping than grasped in the arms of death. The condition of the clothing is accounted for by many surmises but the details of that hour will doubtless ever remain a mystery. The young men started out for their day's hunt about 6 o'clock Monday morning.

They took their large boat, went out and arranged their decoys, and then returned and taking a small float went out to their "blind." They informed Mrs. Pierce that they would return in time for dinner, so took no lunch with them. Several shots were heard after the young men were last seen, and it is judged from the time indicated by the stoppage of the watch that they had been out only a short time when the mysterious calamity occurred. From the condition of the clothing of the young men it is surmised that young Colvin was the first to get into the water, and that Sherer prepared himself to aid in recovering him. The "blind" near which the accident probably occurred was so built that it is possible that young Colvin could have clung to it for some time before going down. But all these surmises are clad in a mystery which will probably never be made clear. True it is, alas, that death has claimed both as its own.

The "float" which the young men used has not yet been found, nor any of its contents, neither has the clothing of young Sherer been recovered as yet. The recovery of these might possibly throw some further light on the circumstances of that fatal morning, but until then all is conjecture.

Sylvester Van Buren, and William Kelly, of the Harris Works, were actively instrumental in recovering the bodies. As soon as the sad news reached the city, they started of their own will and accord, to give such aid as in their power lay, and their generous and earnest endeavors to secure the remains deserve special mention.

They in company with John Spence occupied one boat in searching for the bodies, and another boat was occupied by John McCulloch, Clarence Jackson and Albert Sherer, who also did good service. Deputy Sheriff Comstock was also among those who hurried to the lake, and placed his team at the service of the friends, and brought the remains back to this city. These expressions of kindly and practical sympathy were only akin to the feelings manifested throughout the community on the receipt of the sad news.

Until a late hour last night there were many anxious inquirers going from place to place, asking every one at all likely to have information, what more had been heard, and there seemed no chance for rest or quiet until the news was carried from one to the other, that the bodies had been recovered.

Charles A. Colvin, was the son of Mr. R. L. Colvin, of the Gazette, and had for some time been the bookkeeper in the business office. He only reached his seventeenth year on the 10th of August, and yet in his habits of thought and life showed a maturity beyond his years. He was an active, energetic young man, full of ambition, and bidding fair to become fitting for occupying more than an ordinary position in life. He was widely and well acquainted among the business circles of the city, being thrown in daily contact with many, and was greatly respected and admired by all. In the social circles and among his young companions he was a favorite, being always jovial and pleasant, without being rude or frivolous, and was markedly accommodating in his manner. His personal habits of life were pure, and his chosen companionships were such as to add to the respect which all felt for him. His growth and development have been watched with great interest by many friends, who have known him from childhood, and they have been greatly gratified to see him fulfilling all their expectations and hopes. Reliable in business, true to friends, affectionate and thoughtful as a son and brother, his death is a loss which all feel, and which calls forth the most heartfelt sympathies for the bereaved family.

The death of Julius Sherer is also a heavy blow, not only to the family and widowed mother, but to the community in which he has always lived. He too was a young man who had not reached his majority, being only in his eighteenth year. He has for some time been in the employ of Croft & Sherer, the druggists, the junior member of which firm is his brother. He has a very large circle of acquaintances here, and was a general favorite. With a kindly word and a happy smile ever ready, he found nothing but kindness returning his greeting. His manliness was everywhere noted among his acquaintances, and his courteous ways made him a general favorite. In his business he was very quick and active, reliable with never-tiring energy, and great expectations were bound up in his young life. Like his comrade his habits of life were pure, and true, and his morality was a constant and practical rebuke and example. It is seldom that two young men are thus suddenly cut down, just as they are verging into manhood, in which past there was so much to admire and respect and in whose future there was so much of promise and of hope. The loss is not confined by the walls of home, of the office or of the store, but reaches out into the great heart of the community, making it to throb with a sorrow, akin to that which now saddens the homes so suddenly darkened.

The funeral of Julius Sherer will be held at St. Patrick's church to-morrow afternoon at half past 2 o'clock, the friends meeting at the house on Bluff street at 2 o'clock.

The funeral services of Charles Colvin will take place at the residence on Court street at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Lines on the Death of Charles Colvin and Jules Sherer.

When falls a man, ripe in his years
And told to mingle with the dust,
Like some old tree that's stood the winter's blast
And falls at last because he must,
We gather round his sacred dust
In holy peace, that he's at rest at last.

But not so here. The heart stands still—
To them the morning only broke;
No weary toiling way, no burning noon,
Their opening manhood's life awoke.
A single unexpected stroke
Of wind and wave—then came their awful doom.

We gather round them tenderly,
And drop our sympathetic tear,
That two so joyous, lovable and young,
So promising in youth, so dear,
Should from this world so disappear.
Before their manhood's work had yet begun!

A FIRE ALARM.

This forenoon the fire-bells were on their taps and so were the boys. The alarm proved to be without cause, it being occasioned by the burning out of a chimney at the residence of J. J. R. Pease. The machines were dragged part way up the hill, but were not called into use.
